FOR THE RECORDS

Guides to research in states and counties

Anyone taking a road trip into unfamiliar territory knows that a map is essential to finding and navigating the route to the desired destination. Likewise, family history researchers know that guides for research in specific geographical areas are not only helpful, they are often essential for finding and navigating genealogical sources. Published guides provide essential information for learning about a state's geographical and political boundaries; the location and contact information for agencies, offices and repositories; and information about unique and important local sources. Particularly notable is the National Genealogical Society's Research in the States series. These well-written guides provide expert, experienced guidance for genealogical research in specific states.

The following is a bibliography of research guides and directories for U.S. states available in the Special Collections Department. Authors' names appear in parenthesis following titles. Call numbers for the Special Collections Department follow each entry.

Based near Tel Aviv, Israel, MyHeritage.com provides free web-based and downloadable family-tree genealogical database programs. The FTJP database utilizes a special version of MyHeritage.com website or downloadable software. Data from Family trees created under the FTJP program will be offered more data preservation security than regular users. ■ Ask about Ireland—Griffith's Valuation < <http://www.askaboutireland.ie/griffith-valuation/>>: Griffith's Valuation, one of the most important sources for Irish genealogical information, can now be searched for free on the Ask about Ireland website. Data can be searched by surname and limited by first name, county, barony, union or parish. Search results provide links to images of the original valuation record and a map showing the locality. The database can also be searched by locality, resulting in a list of persons living there and the time of the valuation.

■ Gothenburg, Sweden, Passenger Lists, 1869-1951: Sweden saw approximately 1.3 million citizens leave the country between the mid-19th century and the early decades of the 20th century, with mass emigration peaking in the late 1800s. The majority of those emigrants left through Gothenburg, Sweden's most important western port, making passenger lists from ships leaving Gothenburg an invaluable source for tracing emigrants. The records in this collection include lists compiled during the great waves of Swedish migration in the 19th and 20th centuries, from 1869 to 1951.

Dewey Decimal numbers for U.S. states and counties

Many research collections, including the Special Collections Department, use the Dewey Decimal Classification System. Each state and county is assigned a unique Dewey number. Below is a list in alphabetical order by state and county. Print out the list to take on research trips as a quick reference to finding books on particular states and counties on the shelf. The list is also available on the Special Collections Department website <<http://www.slcl.org/branches/hq/sc/sc-findaid.htm>>.
